PROPOSALS
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;
To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

TO THE PUBLIC.
It seems a little surprising that amongst
so many subjects which have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that
"these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves,
and it behoves a generous posterity,
sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent;
and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographer, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—
It is not the object of the present attempt,
to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate
and unparaphrasing, so often and so tastefully dignified with the name of Biography;
we wish to represent the characters
as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a development of character.
It is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots
from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and illustrious characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense.
It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the subject of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully
returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of Congress
until its final passage into a law, a period
embracing much curious and secret history; finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little importance to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-simile view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.
I. The work will be published in numbers,
or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo,
and will be contained in ten numbers.
II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.

PURCHASED BY
Oct 24 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

To the Public.
AN unusual sensibility has been excited in the minds of our countrymen by the copper plate engraving of the Declaration of Independence recently published, accompanied by fac-similes of the signatures of those illustrious patriots who framed the document by which our independence was announced to the world. We feel, while we dwell on those signatures, as if we were ushered into the immediate presence of characters so exalted, and we seem for a time to participate in all the emotion which they felt on the approach of so awful a crisis.
Hostile armies, desolate fields, towns and cities in conflagration—carnage and death in its most frightful forms appeared in prophetic vision on the one hand, and more than all, the complicated horrors, ignominy
and slavery were presented for their acceptance on the other; they deliberated,
they paused, they trembled, and at last solemnly appealing to the God of battles, they resolved that the United States were
and ought to be free, sovereign and independent. These illustrious patriots, with few solitary exceptions, have now mingled with the common mould—they survive only in their country's glory and in the recollection of a grateful people. But it would be consoling to the present generation, separated as they now are from those patriots, by the intervention of the tomb, to become more intimately acquainted with their revolutionary benefactors. We resolve to dwell on the features of such men, snatched by the pencil from the oblivion of the grave,
and emulate the prominent traits of their biography. Impressed with these ideas, the subscriber proposes, if suitable encouragement is given, to publish the lives of those patriots in numbers, until the whole is completed. The work will be executed in a style not inferior to any European productions, and the portraits by masters of ac-knowledgeed merit. The biography will be written by Paul Allen, esq., whose intimacy with the several signers, whose familiarity with the privations and hardships
they had to undergo, and whose well known talents will be sufficient to ensure the patronage of an enlightened people. In the execution of this work, all that the publisher dares to promise is, that he will endeavor to deserve the confidence of his countrymen, and that no exertion on his part will be wanting to prevent an abatement of that confidence. He ventures to solicit the assistance of those gentlemen in possession of authentic facts and anecdotes, by communicating the intelligence that will serve to illustrate the characters and to enrich the biography of those founders of the American Republic.—Those who are in possession of their portraits would enlarge
the obligation by a loan of the same.
A prospectus with the terms will be given in a few days.

tice and become responsible for five subscrib-

The Public Documents, both foreign and domestic; the proceedings of Congress, and authentic news of every description, are regularly inserted therein, and accompanied by critical and explanatory remarks. Its value is also enhanced by occasional reviews of literary works; and all its senti-

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1819.

For the Gazette.

To Miss

I must leave you dear girl, now so charming and gay,
O'er the hills of the west I must distantly
Will a tear moist your cheek, when I'm gone, far away?
O say my sweet girl with a bonny blue
When gone, will you ever recall me to mind;
Or will absence with these loose affection's warm tie?
O no! for you swore all but me you're re-
Did you not my sweet girl with a bonny blue eye?

When in 'ancys' domain, I shall sometimes discern,
And listen again to that love breathing
Which assur'd me your heart beat a tender return
To my love for the girl with a bonny blue eye!

A sigh from the mountains I'll send you my love!
Will your soul echo sweetly a wishful reply?
For 'tis love that can only such sympathy move,
In the bosom of her with a bonny blue eye!

Then I leave you, dear girl, now so gleesome and gay,
O'er mountains and rivers afar I must bid:
All I ask is a thought when you feel me a way,
So adieu my sweet girl with a bonny blue eye!

Mr. SNOWDEN,
The following description of a "dealer in the marvellous," is extracted from Cumberland's Observer: by inserting it in your paper you will confer a favor on PHILALETHES.

"Remember only that your words be true,
No matter then how many or how few."
DEMOCRATES.
I have a habit of dealing in the marvellous, which I cannot overcome. Some people, who seem to take a pleasure in magnifying the little flaws to be found in all characters, call this by a name, which no gentleman ought to use, or likes to hear. The fact is, I have so much tender consideration for truth in her state of nakedness, that, till I have put her into decent clothing, I cannot think of bringing her into company; and if her appearance is so much altered by dress, that her best friends cannot find her out, are I to blame for that?

There is a matter-of-fact man of my acquaintance, who haunts me in all places, and is the very torment of my life: he sticks to me as the thresher does to the wheat; and is the perfect night mare of my imagination: this fellow never lets one of my stories pass without docking it like an attorney's bill before a master in chancery. He cut forty miles out of a journey of one hundred, which but for him I had performed in one day upon the same horse; in which, I confess, I had stretched a point for the pleasure of out-riding a fat fellow in company, who, by the malicious veracity of my soresaid damper, threw me at least ten miles behind him.

This provoking animal cut up my success in so many intrigues and adventures, that I was determined to lay my plan out of his reach, in a spot which I had provided for an evil day, and accordingly I led him a dance into Cornica, where I was sure he could not follow me. Here I certainly had been, and knew my ground well enough to prance over it at a very handsome rate. I noticed a kind of sly leer in some of the company, which was pointed towards a gentleman present, who was a stranger to me, and so far from joining in the titter, was very politely attentive to what I was relating. I was at the moment warm in the cause of freedom, and had performed such prodigies of valor in its defence, that before my story was well ended, I had got upon such close terms with General Paoli, that had my hearers been but half as much credulous as they ought to have been, they might have set us down for sworn friends and inseparables. But here again, as ill luck would have it, my evil genius laid me on the shoulder, and remarking that I principally addressed myself to the gentleman, whose politeness and attention were so flattering, said to me with a smile which had the malice of the devil in it: "give me leave to introduce to you General Paoli, here present." Death and confusion, what I felt! a stroke of lightning would have been charity compared to this. My persecutor had not done with me: "I am afraid you have forgot your old friend and familiar, who no doubt will be overjoyed at recognizing a brother warrior, who has performed such noble services singly with himself, in the glorious struggle for the liberties of his beloved country." Can I paint the shame I suffered at this moment? It is impossible: I can only say, there is a generosity in true valor, which accords to triumph over the fallen. "There were so many brave men," (said that gallant person, in a tone I shall never lose the impression of) "of whose services I shall ever preserve a grateful memory, but whose persons have slipped from my recollection, that I have only to entreat your pardon for a forgetfulness, which I desire you to believe is not my fault but my infirmity." If a bottle had been vollied at my head, I could not have been more in need of a surgeon than I was at this instant. I could never have suspected truth of playing me such a jade's trick. I always considered her as a good natured, simple creature without gall or bitterness, and was in the habit of treating her accordingly; but this was such a specimen of her malice, that I fled out of her company as hastily as I could.

The next morning I took my passage in the stage coach for my native town, heartily out of humor with my trip to Cornica; but even here I could not shake off old habits so far as to resist the temptation of getting into a post chaise for the last stage, by which manœuvre I took the credit of having travelled like a gentleman, and became entitled to rail against the post-tax and the expenses of the road.

I was now voted into a club of the chief inhabitants of the place, and as I had no reason to believe the story of my late disfigurement had reached them, I soon recovered my spirits, and with them the amplifying powers of my invention. My stories, for a considerable time, were swallowed so glibly, and seemed to sit so easy on the stomachs of these natural unsophisticated people, that I was encouraged to increase the dose to such a degree as seemed to produce something like a nausea with those I administered it to; especially with a certain precise personage of the sect of Quakers, one Simon Stiff, a wealthy trader, and much respected for his probity and fair dealing. Simon had a way of asking me at the end of a story—but is it true?—which sometimes disconcerted me, and considerably lessened the applause which the rest of the club had been accustomed to bestow upon my narratives.

One evening, when I had been describing an enormous shark, by which I had been attacked in one of my West India voyages, Simon Stiff, lifting up both his hands in an attitude of astonishment, cried out—"verily, friend Cracker, thou drawest a long bow." With an angry look I demanded the meaning of that expression—"I mean," replied Simon, "thou speakest the thing which is not." "That is as much as to say I tell a lie." "Even so friend, thou hast hit it," said Simon, without altering his voice, or regarding the tone of rage I had thrown mine into. The steady serenity of his countenance put me down, and I suffered him to proceed without interruption. "Thou hast told us many things, friend Cracker, which are perfectly incredible; were I to attempt imposing on my customers in the way of traffic, as thou dost in the way of talk, the world would justly set me down for a dishonest man."

CONGRESS.
We have already stated that Congress closed its late session on Wednesday, and have given the prominent legislative proceedings of that day. The two Houses adjourned, sine die, about half past nine o'clock in the evening. Previous to parting, the following interchange of expressions of regard took place between the houses and their presiding officers, respectively.

IN THE SENATE.
On motion of Mr. Burrill, of Rhode Island the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, unanimously, That the thanks of the senate be presented to the Honorable James Barbour, Senator from Virginia, for the dignified and impartial manner in which he has discharged the important duties of President of the Senate since he was called to the chair.

Resolved, unanimously, That the thanks of the Senate be also presented to the Hon. John Gaillard, Senator from South Carolina for the dignified and impartial manner in which he discharged the important duties of President of the Senate during the time he presided therein.

Mr. Barbour, in reply, addressed the Senate, as follows:

Gentlemen: The sensibility produced by this new evidence of your kindness and approbation, is beyond my power to express. I would rather refer you to your own bosoms as furnishing a more correct standard by which to appreciate it. I have the consolation to reflect that whatever of zeal or capacity I possess, has been devoted to the discharge of the duties of my station. Your approbation is more than an ample reward. Permit me, as the moment of separating is approaching, from all for a season, from some perhaps forever, to tender you all an affectionate farewell, and to pray that, upon your return to your respective homes, your reception may be such in all your relations, as may make you happy.

Mr. Gaillard next rose and replied, as follows:

Mr. President: Next to the satisfaction arising from the consciousness of faithfully performing our duty, the favorable opinion of those with whom we are associated, affords the highest gratification that can be received; and the present vote of approbation, together with the many acts of kindness I have experienced from this honorable body, have excited in my mind feelings of gratitude with neither time nor circumstances can ever efface.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
The following resolution was, on motion of Mr. Hugh Nelson, of Virginia, unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this house be presented to the honorable Henry Clay, for the able, impartial, and dignified manner in which he has presided over its deliberations, and performed the arduous and important duty of the Chair.

To which Mr. Clay replied as follows:

I beg you to receive, gentlemen, my most respectful acknowledgments for the flattering vote which you have done me the honor to pass. Always entertaining for this house the highest consideration, the expression of your approbation conveys a gratification as pure as it is indescribable. I owe it to truth, however, to say, gentlemen, that, but for the almost unlimited confidence with which you have constantly sustained me, and the chair, I should have been utterly incompetent to discharge its arduous duties.

If, gentlemen, in the course of our deliberations, momentary irritation has been, at any time felt, or unkind expressions have ever, in the heat of debate, fallen from any of us, let these unpleasant incidents be consigned to oblivion, and let us recollect only that anxious desire which has uniformly animated every one to promote what appeared to him to be for the prosperity of our common country.

One painful circumstance fills me with the deepest regret. It is that, after having co-operated with many of you, with some for years, to advance the public good, we separate to meet, perhaps, no more. I here bear testimony to the fidelity with which you have all laboured to fulfil the high and honorable trust committed to us by the nation. And every one of you will carry with you my most ardent wishes for your welfare and happiness.

Major Anthony Gale, of the Corps of Marines, has been promoted, by the President and Senate, to be Lieutenant Colonel Commandant of that Corps, vice Lieutenant Colonel Franklin Wharton, deceased.

VERMONT OUTDORE BY MARYLAND.
Some few years since, the attorney general of Vermont, then a president of a bank in that state, attempted to get a man, by the name of Ruggles, indicted by the grand jury for felony, for demanding specie of the bank, in payment of its notes—but failed, for the want of a statute making it criminal to demand the fulfilment of a lawful promise. But the state of Maryland, it seems, by the 5th section of a late law, have removed that difficulty, by enacting "that it shall not be lawful for any person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, to ask, demand and receive, from any of the several incorporated banks of this state, any gold or silver, with the intent or design to make sale thereof, or to obtain a premium therefor; and any person or persons, officer or officers, of any body politic or corporate, who shall be duly convicted of receiving from any of the banks of this state, any gold or silver, contrary to the provisions of this section, such person or persons, officer or officers, shall forfeit and pay a sum of money equal to double the amount of the gold or silver so received as aforesaid"—and to obviate the inconvenience of proving the intent, the courts are required, in the next section, to consider the act of demanding money, as a proof of an intent to commit the crime forbidden. The section shall speak for itself:

"Be it enacted, That the court of law of this state, in the construction of this act, shall consider the same as remedial, and shall give such a construction thereto, as shall be calculated to restrain any evasion, by any subtlety or device whatsoever, of any of the provisions thereof." Is not this impairing the obligation of contracts, as forbidden by the constitution? By the ninth article of the eleventh section of the charter of the Bank of the United States, the directors are allowed to deal in gold and silver—by this law they are forbidden so to do; which of the laws is paramount? A fine protection for the branch bank in Baltimore! Merchants who have connections in Maryland, will do well to make themselves acquainted with the whole of this act.

[Evening Post.
Baltimore, March 5.
COURT REPORTING.
A man by the name of Green was yesterday indicted before the City Court for counterfeiting bank bills. Among the notes produced in evidence against him was one of 100 dols. on the Philadelphia Bank; four of 20 dols. on the Bank of the North-east; and several others. After a patient investigation of the circumstances, the jury pronounced him guilty.

Richmond, February 20.
SINGULAR SNOW.
Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday, we witnessed in this city the most singular flakes of snow which we recollect ever to have beheld. They were of astonishing size, and looked like small snow balls falling from the clouds. Some of whom measured an inch and a quarter in diameter. The substance of them was uncommonly light—their crystallization very delicate—exhibiting a collection of the finest needles lying together in every direction.

OF EAST FLORIDA.
Extract from Ellicot's Journal, published in 1814.

"East Florida is but little better than a wilderness; the soil is not superior to that of W. Florida, and none of its navigable waters rising in the United States, it does not appear equally interesting. It is, nevertheless, of immense importance to the U. States, being, from its present situation, well calculated to give security to the commerce between the Atlantic and the Western states; and may be considered one of the main keys to the trade of the Gulf of Mexico. On the West side it affords two remarkably fine harbors—one is known by the name of Hillsborough bay, (Bay Tampa, or Spiritu Santo); the latitude is stated to be 27 deg. 36 min. north, and the long. 83 deg. west of Greenwich. It is very capacious, and will admit any vessel over the bar not drawing more than 24 feet water. The other harbor is called by the Spaniards Bocca Grande; and by the English Charlotte Harbor, stated to be in lat. 26 deg. 43 min. north, and 83 deg. 30 min. west long. It has fifteen feet water on the bar, and good anchorage within. Exclusive of those harbors, there are several others, well calculated for coasting vessels, that draw not more than seven feet of water. The Florida Keys and Reef likewise furnish a great number of Harbors proper for coasting vessels; and advantageous stations for cruizers; particularly that of Key Biscano, situated at the northern entrance of the Reef, and capable of commanding the whole coasting trade which should take that passage. This being the entrance of the Reef, and the most proper place to depart from in sailing northwardly, would be one of the most eligible positions on the whole coast, and perhaps on the continent, for a light house. But, instead of any advantage being derived, either to the United States or his Catholic Majesty, from these favorable situations, they serve as dens and hiding places for the privateers and picarons of the Bahama Islands, by which the trade of both nations has suffered immensely in spoliation; and extraordinary as it may appear, it is no less true, that nearly the whole coast of East-Florida, so far as maritime possession gives a right, is under the dominion of the Bahama Islands; the coast and islands being uninhabited, even by a single solitary settler, from Appalacha almost round to St. Augustine; from which the inhabitants of the Bahama Islands cut and carry off, without interruption, as much of the valuable ship timber as they find necessary or convenient.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

The packet ship Courier, Bowne, arrived here last evening from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 1st January, to which date inclusive, we have received papers, together with Lloyd's List of the 25th and 29th December. The follow extracts are all that we find of particular interest.

American stocks at London, Dec. 24, New Six per cents, 101 a 102, div. from 1st October; Bank Shares £24 10s to £25, div. from July.

London, Dec. 30.—An express which left Paris on Monday night, states, that the new Ministers had been appointed under the direction of the Duke of Richelieu. M. de St. Cyr is to be at the head of the new Cabinet and Minister for the War Department. It is reported that Drouot was to be made Minister of the Marine.

The French funds rose, and the 5 per cents, left off at the close, on Monday, as high as 65.

Stocks.—The news from France respecting the completion of the cabinet, had a favorable effect upon our funds to day. The market closed as follows.—Red Ann, 77½—Consols for the account 79 1-8.

Parliament is further prorogued to the 14th Jan.

A report has prevailed in town, that the pleasure of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent has been intimated to Mr. Peel, that this Rt. Hon. gentleman should join the present administration. Mr. Peel is said to have immediately waited on Lord Liverpool, and understanding that his Lordship purposed to retire from office, he inquired who, in the event of his Lordship's retreat, should be considered as Premier. Lord Liverpool replied that Lord Castlereagh would be Premier. Mr. Peel is reported to have then declared his determination not to accept of office under Lord Castlereagh.

Letters from Amsterdam state, that a commercial establishment which has attracted much notice from the extent of its speculations in the government securities of France, is at length declared in a state of insolvency. The ruin of this house, which though, not perhaps of the first order, maintained a very high rank at Amsterdam, is chiefly to be ascribed to those speculations, of the magnitude by which some idea may be formed by stating, that at one period it held 4,000,000 of rentes, forming a capital of 80,000,000 of francs; and that every full of one per cent, that took place in the funds, constituted a difference of more than 40,000 pound sterling.

Lord Castlereagh was so much indisposed with the gout on Monday, that it was necessary to lift him in and out of his bed—indeed he was scarcely able to move at all without assistance.

Colchester, Dec. 25.

Arrived from Ostend, after a passage of 8 hours, the Lady Frances packet, with Brussels and Ghent papers of yesterday's date. Trade is uncommonly dull at Ostend, and likely to be still more so, in consequence of the British ports being shut against the importation of wheat into this country from next month. A heavy tonnage duty is also to be imposed on British vessels every voyage.

Liverpool Prices, Jan. 1.—Ashes, pots, 53 a 56s in good demand, and improving; pearls, 57 6 a 59s 6d, steady; bark 16 6 a 21s 6d, fine quality wanted; flaxseed, 7 bushels for crushing, 67 a 69s; flour, 40 a 45s, do sour, 34 a 38s, dull, purchasers of sour flour not willing to give the prices asked; wheat, 93 a 95s, very dull and declining; rice 44 a 46s, demand quite suspended, as it is expected that the duty would be reduced to 7s 6d in a few weeks. Cotton, Upland, 1s 41 a 1s 42; New-Orleans 1s 5 a 1s 9d; Sea-Island 2s 3 a 3s 6d; stemmed do 1 7 a 1 11s; Tennessee is 2 1 a 1s 3s—the demand for cotton is very good, but there is no improvement in prices. Tobacco, middling, 63 a 6d; good to fine, 81 a 104d, the market dull, but no particular alteration. Tar, 16 a 17s 6d, dull; turpentine, 14 a 15s; staves w. o. pipe 25 a 30l; bhd 18 a 24l; bbl 14 a 20l.

London Markets, Dec. 29.—Tobacco is entirely nominal in prices; the trade will not buy unless at a more considerable reduction than any holder has yet been disposed to submit to.

Rice remains dull of demand, but price steady at 46s per cwt for consumption.—There has been no intimation from the lords of the treasury that E. I. rice will be admitted duty free after the 31st instant, on which day the existing order will expire; and, unless renewed, a duty will attach of 7s 6d per cwt.

Turpentine.—In consequence of some large arrivals the article is dull of sale.—Ashes have continued in good demand, and the prices have again advanced.

Corn Exchange, Dec. 30.—Although the prices of wheat advanced on Monday, yet, in consequence of arrivals this day, the sales were very heavy, and the prices scarcely supported. At the close of the market on Monday, Flour advanced 3s per sack.

We are authorised to state that Cuthbert Fowel, Esq. declines being considered a Candidate for the Senate for the next election.

We are authorised to announce William H. Fitzhugh Esq. of Fairfax, as a Candidate for the next Senatorial district, composed at the next election, of the counties of Loudoun, Fairfax, and Fauquier.

Notice,
To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c. BELIEVING as I do, that Providence has placed me in a situation, near the Fl. wharf, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, I am settling there, for the purpose of settling there, the centre of the county courts where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; where trades of the above described being carried on, would be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy, good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be the customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. To the Public.
MR. CALVO, a French gentleman by birth, begs leave to inform the ladies and gentlemen of Alexandria, who are desirous of being instructed in the French language, that he will receive and attend to their applications at the house of Mr. B. VERLEY, Oronoko-street, near the Fish wharf. The progress which the students under his tuition have already made in speaking the French language with correctness, is more than a sufficient recommendation to him. He also proposes to give lessons on writing.

Notice.
To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.
BELIEVING as I do, that Providence, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE, Fairfax Court-House, Va. mth2w lawlf

50 Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from the subscriber, EDMUND, a dark mulatto man, 24 years of age, about 5 1/2 feet high. He has an impediment in his speech; but it is not always observable when he is spoken to.—He is a very delicate looking man, has a small black mark or scar on his face. He had on when he left me, a blue coat, with gilt buttons; a striped swansdown waistcoat; blue stocking-net pantaloons; and a glazed hat.—And he has a drab colored great coat, with a large single cape, the collar of which is lined with green velvet.

The above mentioned servant was lately purchased by me of Landon Carter, esq. of Richmond county, Virginia; but I have reason to believe that he will be lurking in or about Alexandria, Georgetown or Washington.

The above reward will be paid if delivered to me, provided he is apprehended in Virginia; or 25 dollars if he is secured in jail, so that I get him again; or I will give 100 dollars reward if he is taken out of the state and delivered to me in the city of Richmond.

PROPOSALS.

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON, for publishing by subscription, A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS TO THE

Declaration of Independence,

ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES: To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IT seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behoves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not attached by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unparagoned panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography; we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a development of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the mediated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history; finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-similes of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Potomac creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided into requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia. September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house, kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is also on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover.—With the land would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 180 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick-house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—It would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscribers will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, or FRANKS ADAMS, Jr.
